

CROWDFUNDING CAMPAGN FOR THE FILM
365 DAYS UNDER ANTARCTIC ICE

The documentary film presented to you and for which we request your support, is intended to be released in movie theaters in 2018.

Real odyssey of modern times, one of the greatest scientific adventure, the film tells the story of the french antarctic expeditions of the International Geophysical Year.

Through the men's testimonies who have taken part in the International Geophysical Year expeditions, and the films and pictures they brought back from Antarctica sixty years ago, the film will make revive this white odyssey.

The film is an encouter with the Antarctic, its extraordinary wildlife, and, first of all, an encounter with men, explorers, researchers, facing the harshness of these hostile areas, where no one had gone before them, in order to advance knowledge on our planet.

To succeed in this historical film project, we will require the commitment of many partners. This cinematografic project needs to be a collective piece that draws on the people and institutions who are aware, involved and have a passion for the Polar Regions.

This is why we need your support in our crowdfunding campaign. Your participation will allow us to get this ambitious project to an end in the best conditions and bring this story to the biggest audience possible, in a way that honours an adventure of this importance.
